

Phoneme ER Final - 1

CVC One Syllable

Sir

Other

Her

Teacher

Fur

Finger

Purr

Scissors

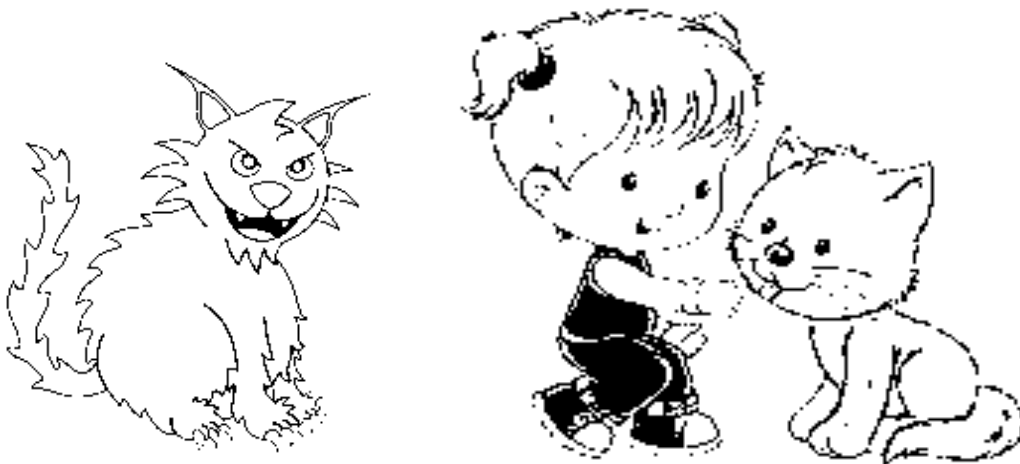

Were

Paper

Read the following sentence. See if you can remember the words above AND remember to use your "ER" sound in them.

Excuse me Sir, were you going to let her pet your kitten's fur so that it will purr? Perhaps I will let you pet my other cat because my kitten's claws are sharp as scissors and its tongue is as rough as sand paper. Make sure that you pet him softly with your fingers.

Phoneme ER Final - 2

CVC One Syllable

Stir

Fur

Spur

Were

Slur

Purr

Fir

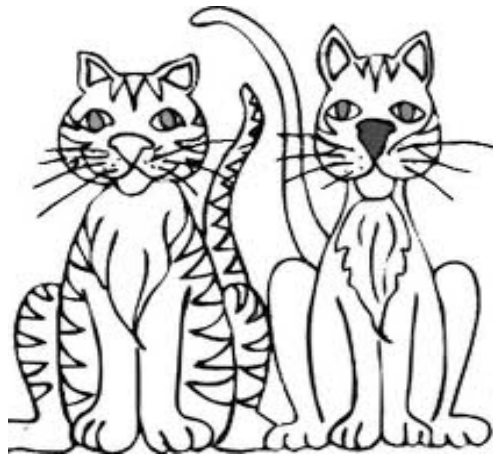

Her

Per

Sir

Read the following sentence. See if you can remember the words above AND remember to use your "ER" sound in them.

As she stirred and spurred through the forest of firs, she slurred a few words per minute. Two cats with silky coats of fur were purring at her as she walked.

Phoneme ER Final – 1

CVCR Two Syllable

Other

Teacher

Finger

Scissors

Paper

Read the following sentence. See if you can remember the words above AND remember to use your "ER" sound in them.

The other teacher told me to be more careful after I cut my finger with scissors instead of cutting my paper.

www.shutterstock.com 63835552

Phoneme ER Final – 1

CVCVR Two Syllable

Doctor

Girl

Runner

Nurse

Better

Purple

Super

Hurt

Blister

Person

Read the following sentence. See if you can remember the words above AND remember to use your "ER" sound in them.

The doctor of the runner said that he better put a bandage on his super large blister. The girl nurse then entered the room and put a purple bandage on his hurt foot.

Phoneme ER Final - 2

CVCVR Two Syllable

Mister

Were

Quarter

Perfect

Cracker

Serve

Hunger

Person

Dinner

Firm

Read the following sentence. See if you can remember the words above AND remember to use your "ER" sound in them.

Hey Mister, I'll give you a quarter for a cracker to feed my hunger before dinner. Crackers were a perfect snack to serve a person before dinner.

CHEESE & CRACKERS

Phoneme ER Final - 3

CVCVR Two Syllable

Singer

Other

Temper

Finger

Poster

Better

Drummer

Super

Trainer

Person

Read the following sentence. See if you can remember the words above AND remember to use your "ER" sound in them.

The singer had a temper when she saw the poster that her drummer and trainer had made for her. She pointed her other finger at the two men and said, "You better run super fast."

