The Workshop Welcomes a New President

The North Pole elected a new President! Jingle Elf has won by an avalanche! He beat challenger Jangle Elf to win his 321st term as Santa's Workshop President. In his acceptance speech Jingle thanked all the elves and reindeer for their support. President Jingle vows to come through on all his campaign promises during his next term. After the holiday season, Jingle will begin getting all the elves back to work.

President Jingle's first order of business is reducing the number of children on Santa's Naughty List and increasing the number on Santa's Nice List. The lists are now in the House of Elves. Each child needs to be voted on to move them from the Naughty list to the Nice list. This is the biggest job the House of Elves has and the pressure is on to complete voting before Christmas Eve. When asked for a comment, President Jingle simply said, "More children on the Nice List is good for business!"

Since Santa's order for coal has been very low, Workshop insiders say he must have a lot of confidence in his Workshop President. When asked about the situation, Santa had this to say, "I know President Jingle and the House of Elves will work together and do a great job getting the children moved to the Nice List."

When asked how the voting was going, President Jingle said he was hoping for the best. "We want all the children to wake up on Christmas Day with happy smiles and a big hooray!"

Cooking, Drama, and Mischief – NPC’s New Reality Lineup

Reality TV is coming to the NPC (North Pole Channel). Several new shows are in the works. Mrs. Claus will be starring in her very own cooking and lifestyle show entitled “Cooking with Mrs. Claus.” When asked about her new show, Mrs. Claus said, “I’m so excited! We have so much fun in the kitchen. We can’t wait to share our sweet treats and ideas with the North Pole!” Santa has offered to taste test all the cookies for the North Pole’s new kitchen star.

Another show rumored to be in the works is “Around the World with Wally.” It is the story of Wally Elf and his travels as he visits children all over the world. “I have so much fun visiting the children each December, so Santa and I thought it would be great to share my story with the other elves.” Said Wally. “I have had lots of fun, met a lot of wonderful children, and have gotten into a lot of mischief! I just hope after Santa sees the show I don’t end up on his Naughty List!” When asked if he’s seen any tape of Wally’s new show, Santa said “Even though he’s gotten into some mischief, I know Wally is a good Little Helper and after seeing this show, a lot of my Little Helpers are going to want to visit the children too. I say the more the merrier!”

Finally, if it’s drama you’re looking for “The Real Reindeer of the North Pole” is just for you. Sneak a peek behind the scenes and watch what goes on behind closed doors in the Reindeer Barn. One episode captures all the drama during the Dash Games. All the Reindeer compete to lead Santa’s sleigh on Christmas Eve. This year’s Dash had Rudy and Vixen, two of the show’s standout stars, battling neck and neck to lead the Sleigh Team. After the heated competition Vixen said, “All of the other Reindeer used to laugh and call me names, they never let me join in the Dash games, but now that I am a star, they love me!” Rudolph, who has some experience with Reindeer games, said he’s proud of his friend, Vixen. “She did a great job today! She has improved leaps and bounds since last year’s Dash. But there’s only one Reindeer that leads Santa’s sleigh.” Viewers will just have to wait to see which Reindeer will get to lead Santa’s sleigh and become a shining star!

Even Without Snow, Reinbulls Rock

Sure, they are missing their best player, point guard Derrick Snow, who is recovering from a torn ACL. (An unfortunate accident when a snowball caused him to slip on the ice...)

But the Reinbulls are still a formidable opponent. Just ask the Antarctica Antlers.

The Reinbulls tore the antlers off of Antarctica Friday, winning 115-86 before a sell-out crowd at Candy Cane Arena.

The Reinbulls (2-0)

have beaten the fight," Antler coach, Antlers nine times in a Byron "Hot" Co-Co, row. In the last four snowball fights versus the Reinbulls, the Antlers have been outscored by a combined 121 points. Snow didn't play in three of those four games.

"It was a good, old fashioned snowball

"We still have a lot to learn. You have to come ready to play...."
- Byron "Hot" Co-Co

Antler coach, Antlers nine times in a Byron "Hot" Co-Co, said. "We still have a lot to learn. You have to come ready to play. The Reinbulls are a great snowball team, especially on the defensive end. We didn't match their intensity."

The Reinbulls, who had the best regular-season record in the NPM last season, were led by shooting guard Rudolph Rednose, who had 14 of his 19 points in the third quarter. Power forward Pedro Peppermint, a second-round pick of the Antlers in 2002, finished with 19 points, seven rebounds and six assists.

It's obvious that the Reinbulls don't play silly little reindeer games. They throw to win...so duck!!

Warm Weather Causes Snow Effects

With last winter's unseasonably warm weather the snow people continue shedding water weight, says Jack Frost, our North Pole weather correspondent. In an interview yesterday with Frosty the Snowman it was revealed that the snow people, while enjoying their new slim figures, prefer a colder winter. "I must say my 'coal'lesterol has gone down with the snow loss, but it just doesn't feel like Pole, without the cold weather," said Frosty. Sources close to Frost also say that Santa Claus was spotted swimming in the North Pole pond last winter! "He was wearing sunglasses and Bermuda shorts, but I knew it was him," said the source.

The latest fashion trend to come out of the crazy drop in temperature last winter is "skinny" scarves. All the snow ladies are buying them. They hug the snow curves and are tapered at the bottom, for a fun holiday look! In fact, CNPM business reports show that the department store, Coal's, has sold out of them. The elves are busy at work trying to replenish the supply before the big day on December 25th!

In the Kitchen

With Mrs. Claus

Down at the Reindeer Barn, Rudy and the team love to host holiday parties! The Barn is always rocking- filled with music, laughter, and Christmas Cheer! Santa and I are always invited to join in the Reindeer Games. For such festive occasions I like to whip up a batch of my now famous Rudy's Red Nose Reindeer Punch. This holiday punch is as sweet as Rudy himself- that's why I named it after him! Liven up your holiday gatherings by making a batch of this sweet and tasty drink! With just a few simple ingredients and a couple spins with a spoon, this bubbly beverage is sure to pack a festive punch!

Rudy's Red Nose Reindeer Punch

Ingredients:

- 1 Tub Raspberry Sherbet
- 8 oz. Frozen raspberry lemonade concentrate
- 2 Liters Raspberry ginger ale
- 1 Jar Maraschino cherries

In a large punch bowl combine ginger ale and frozen lemonade. Stir gently until mixed. Add frozen sherbet let melt in the punch. Add half the jar of cherries to the punch. Save the other half for serving. Serve cold and garnish with a cherry. Enjoy!

Dear Dolly

Dear Dolly,

It's almost time to visit the children again and Santa just told me that Caroline has a new dog. I am afraid her new puppy Ginger will chase me and spoil my fun. Last year when Brutus chased me I waited until he was asleep and then I painted him like a candy cane. I was just joking around. Caroline thought it was really funny, but Santa said if I did something like that again I would end up on the Naughty List. How can I have fun with Caroline without Ginger chasing me? And how can I make mischief without ending up in the dog house?

Signed,
Puppy Problem

Dear Puppy Problem,

You can't teach an old dog a new trick, but you can become friends! I think you should try to talk to Brutus. Start by apologizing for painting him like a candy cane!

(Wasn't Brutus the same dog you shaved during last year's visit?) You might also want to bring along a

"Wasn't Brutus the same dog you shaved during last year's visit?"

peace offering- like a bone, or ask Mrs. Claus if she can help you make some homemade dog treats. I'm sure if you show Brutus you want to be his friend, then Ginger will be your friend too. But just in case Brutus is still mad, I would keep the mischief to a minimum. I would also forget any ideas of making that sweet little puppy, Ginger look like a Ginger-bread dog! Besides, if Santa sees Brutus in a red coat and hat or Ginger running around with gumdrops in her fur or reindeer antlers on her head, you'll not only end up on the Naughty List, you might get stuck on clean up "dooty" in the Reindeer Barn!

Love
Dolly
